VIRGINIA READER'S CHOICE PK-2

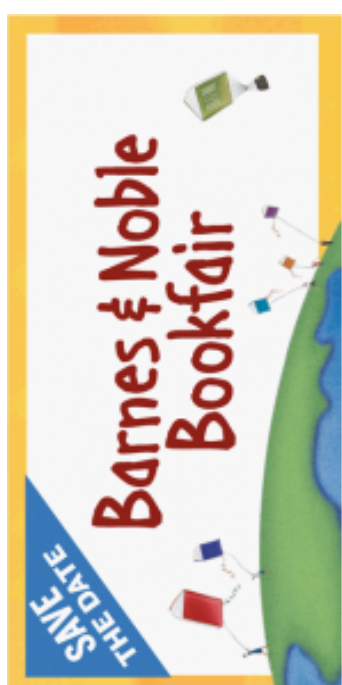

Every January, the PK-2 classes participate in the Virginia Reader's Choice Contest hosted by the Virginia State Reading Association. This contest exposes students to 10 "contemporary books with outstanding literary appeal." These books are read aloud in the library and the students vote on them after all 10 have been read. So far, the fan favorite seems to be "I YAM a Donkey" by Cece Bell. Encourage your child to tell you about this exciting literary adventure!

VIRGINIA READER'S CHOICE 3-5

Every January we also begin a 3rd-5th grade reading contest. This year we are using the books on the VRC Elementary list. Information was sent home about the contest the first week of January. For each of the 10 books the student reads, he or she will fill out a completion form (found in the library) and will move their game piece down the game board. The top 13 students will be awarded with a field trip to see a program at the November theater on Friday, April 28 and lunch out of school for free! This is an optional contest. All entries are due April 19. For more information, please ask your child or visit the library website. These books can be read aloud, listened to (audiobook format) or read. You can find them in the Crestview or public library.

BARNES AND NOBLE BOOK FAIR!

Save the date! Thursday, March 2 (Dr. Seuss' Birthday!), we will be hosting a book fair at Barnes and Noble-Libbie Place. 10% of purchases all day long will go towards the Crestview library! Come shop, eat, and see local story teller Jeff Bateman! This includes purchases in the cafe and online (so share the upcoming link with grandparents!) You will also have the opportunity to view student artwork in the cafe and eat dinner with some pretty special teachers!
